

Table 5
Adding Value to Experience

| Primary Ways Teachers Provide Value by Structuring an Experiential Education Offering |
|---|
| <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Choose subject matter for legal work of law clinic, externship, or simulation 2. Choose cases or matters for clinic, or create simulations 3. Vet placements and field supervisors, or recruit practitioners to assist with simulation course 4. Train field supervisors for externships 5. Match students with externship placements 6. Prepare activities for class sessions |
| Primary Ways Teachers Provide Value During an Experiential Education Offering |
| <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Provide in-depth conceptual frameworks for individual skills 2. Provide intensive supervision of student preparation and performance of work 3. Provide specific feedback and debriefing on student performances, simulated or real 4. Provide opportunities for student reflection and systemic critique apart from feedback on performances 5. Integrate conceptual frameworks, supervision, feedback, and reflection |