

Call for Scholarly Papers for Presentation at 2018 AALS Annual Meeting

To encourage and recognize excellent legal scholarship and to broaden participation by new law teachers in the Annual Meeting program, the association is sponsoring a call for papers for the 32nd annual AALS Scholarly Papers Competition. Those who will have been full-time law teachers at an AALS member or fee-paid school for five years or less on July 1, 2017, are invited to submit a paper on a topic related to or concerning law. A committee of established scholars will review the submitted papers with the authors' identities concealed.

Papers that make a substantial contribution to legal literature will be selected for presentation at the AALS Annual Meeting in San Diego, California, in January 2018.

Inquiries: Questions should be directed to scholarlypapers@aals.org.

Deadline: To be considered in the competition, an electronic version of the manuscript and a cover letter (described below) should be emailed to scholarlypapers@aals.org no later than August 4, 2017, 11:59 p.m. EST.

Anonymity: The manuscript should be accompanied by a cover letter with the author's name and contact information. The manuscript itself, including title page and footnotes, should not contain any references that identify the author or the author's school. The submitting author is responsible for taking any steps necessary to redact self-identifying text or footnotes.

Form and Length: Each submission should be prepared using Microsoft Word or otherwise should be submitted in rich text format. There is a maximum word limit of 30,000 words (inclusive of footnotes) for the submitted manuscripts. The manuscript should be double-spaced in 12-point (or larger) type with ample (at least 1") margins on all sides. Footnotes should be 10-point or larger, single-spaced, and preferably on the same page as the referenced text.

Eligibility: Faculty members of AALS member and fee-paid schools, including visiting faculty whose "home" school is also an AALS member or fee-paid school, and VAPs are eligible to submit papers. Fellows and adjuncts are not eligible, nor are visiting faculty whose "home" school is not a member or fee-paid school. The competition is open to those who have been full-time law teachers for five years or less as of July 1, 2017 (for these purposes, one is considered a full-time faculty member while officially "on leave" from the law school). Time spent as a visiting faculty member will be counted toward the five-year maximum, but time as a fellow or away on family or medical leave will not be included. Co-authored papers are eligible for consideration, but each of the co-authors must meet the eligibility criteria established above. Authors are limited to one submission each. A co-authored submission is treated as an individual submission by each author, and precludes additional submissions by either author. AALS Scholarly Papers Competition winners are not eligible to compete again, though past Honorable Mention recipients are eligible.

Papers are expected to reflect original research. Papers are not eligible for consideration if they will have been published before February 2018. However, inclusion of a version of the paper on the Social Science Research Network (SSRN) or similar pre-publication resource does not count as "publication" for purposes of this competition. Submitted papers, whether or not selected for recognition, may be subsequently published as arranged by the authors. Papers may have been revised on the basis of review by colleagues.

Statement of Compliance: The cover letter accompanying each submission should include a statement verifying:

1. The author holds a faculty appointment at a member or fee-paid school;
2. The author has been engaged in full-time teaching for five years or less as of July 1, 2017;
3. All information identifying the author or author's school has been removed from the manuscript;
4. The paper has not been previously published and is not committed for publication prior to February 2018; and
5. The author agrees to notify the AALS if the submitted paper will be published before February 2018.

Each author is to indicate up to four subject categories from the list below that best fit the paper. In the event that none of the listed categories captures the essence of the paper, the author should write in one topic under "other."
