

National Security Law -
New Voices in National Security Scholarship Works in Progress

The AALS Section on National Security Law invites abstracts for a junior faculty works in progress program at the January 2018 Annual Meeting. Papers may concern any matter related to national security law. Papers must be still in progress (for example, papers may be accepted for publication, but with revisions still underway) as of the time of the Annual Meeting in January 2018. Abstracts must be no longer than 1,000 words. Submissions can be accepted only from those affiliated with AALS member institutions. "Junior faculty" includes faculty who have been in a teaching position full-time for seven years or less as of the submission deadline. Submit your abstract by August 31, 2017 at 5:00 p.m. E.S.T. to Professor Dakota Rudesill, at rudesill.2@osu.edu
