WORKSHOP FOR PRETENURED LAW SCHOOL TEACHERS OF COLOR

January 6, 2018 | Marriott Marquis San Diego Marina

Welcome to San Diego
for the 112th Annual Meeting of the Association of American Law Schools

Why Attend?

Many minority law professors embark upon a career as a law teacher to have a positive impact upon students, to pursue justice and to transform the legal system to improve lives and communities. They discover that they face special challenges in the legal academy, starting from their first day of teaching. At this workshop, diverse panels of experienced and successful law professors will talk about their goals and achievements as law teachers and legal scholars and offer ways to successfully meet these challenges as they arise in the context of scholarship, teaching, service, and the tenure process. By bringing together faculty who are navigating similar career paths, the workshop will facilitate development of relationships that can provide long-term sources of support.

Who Should Attend?

The workshop will be of interest to all minoritized law school teachers who are navigating the tenure process and looking for guidance and encouragement. This includes professors who have not yet had a mid-probationary or retention review and professors who have passed the mid-probationary or retention review but are not yet tenured.

AALS would like to thank the Law School Admission Council for their generous grant in support of this Workshop.

This session is intended to provide participants with practical, concrete advice about how to set a scholarly agenda, to manage internal and external reviews, and to position one's self for success. In the context of this discussion, speakers will identify things they came to know post-tenure that they wish they had known pre-tenure.

10:30 am – 10:45 am

Refreshment Break

10:45 am – noon

Small Group Discussions on Scholarship Part I

This small group session, to be facilitated by plenary speakers, will enable participants to explore and discuss more fully issues raised by the preceding plenary session.

Establishing External and Internal Networks of Support

Why is it important to develop and maintain professional relationships with teachers and scholars outside of your home institution? What are some tips and strategies for developing and maintaining these connections? What are some tips and strategies for developing and maintaining professional relationships inside your home institution?

Conferences, Colloquia and Workshops

Conferences provide opportunities to present your work but which conferences should you attend? How can colloquia and workshop series enhance your scholarship?

Interpreting the Retention Letter

The purpose of the retention review is to determine whether a tenure-track faculty member is on track for tenure. What should you do if your review is successful but you are informed of weaknesses or areas of concern? What should you do if the review is glowing?

12:15 pm – 1:30 pm

Lunch on your own

1:45 pm – 3 pm

Small Group Discussions on Scholarship Part II

This small group session, to be facilitated by plenary speakers, will enable participants to discuss issues related to scholarship. These issues might include (but are not limited to):

Developing a Scholarly Agenda

With whom should you discuss and share your work? What are some useful guidelines for selecting a topic, developing a writing schedule and completing the article, essay or book? Why is it important to read and cite other major contributors in the area in which you write?

Building a Scholarly Reputation

Why is it important? What are some strategies to enhance opportunities to present your work at conferences and external faculty workshops? Is it worthwhile to cultivate a social media presence? How op-eds may support your scholarly reputation.

Miscellaneous Group Discussion

This group discussion will address any other questions not covered by the other groups. Topics may include how to best use research assistants;

how to create and capitalize on synergies between teaching and scholarship; how to determine when you should say “no” to various administrative requests and other requests.

3 pm – 3:15 pm

Refreshment Break

3:15 pm – 4:15 pm

PLENARY SESSION

Teaching and Service: Overcoming Challenges, Realizing Opportunities

Moderator:

Rose Cuison Villazor, University of California, Davis, School of Law

Speakers:

Robert S. Chang, Seattle University School of Law
Matthew L.M. Fletcher, Michigan State University College of Law

Melissa E. Murray, University of California, Berkeley School of Law

This final session will focus on teaching and service. With regard to teaching, law professors of color often report special challenges in the classroom stemming from dynamics that are hard to spot and to know how to address. This session will identify specific issues that may be of concern. How do I deal with difficult students? How do I ensure diverse participation in the classroom? How should I address the various differences among students—including racial, sexual orientation, or gender differences — and differences between students and myself? Speakers will offer some advice on how to plan and to facilitate classroom teaching in both large and small courses, and to be a more effective teacher.

With regard to service, new law teachers unexpectedly realize that they must provide service to their school, university, profession, and community as outlets for their academic and non-academic passions and interests. How do you approach the third prong of the tripartite journey toward tenure? How does one determine which service obligation to prioritize? Speakers will explain how service may be viewed as a gateway to learning about, and being active and influential in, the operation of your school and provides an opportunity to interact with your colleagues—and for them to interact with you—to build strong personal and professional relationships; Speakers will also illustrate the ways in which the power resides with you to transform your service obligations, create your own service opportunities, and follow your passion in order to develop and extend your areas of expertise and your networks at the same time.

Beware of Housing Pirates and Poachers!

In the past, registrants have sometimes been contacted with offers for cut-rate housing. The intent is to convince you that the offer is made on behalf of AALS, or that the soliciting company is a viable alternative to Experient. This is not true. Housing for the Annual Meeting is handled exclusively by Experient, through online booking only once you have registered for the Annual Meeting.

When AALS secures sleeping rooms at hotels for our Annual Meeting (commonly referred to as room blocks), we research the properties to make certain that our attendees will be adequately accommodated. The room block is established to ensure that sleeping rooms meet our standards and are offered at the discounted price.

Don't be misled! If you are contacted by anyone asking if you need a room for the Annual Meeting, please do not make a reservation or provide a method of payment. We ask that you get as much information as you can about the caller and pass it on to Mary Cullen, Associate Director of Meetings, at mcullen@aals.org.
