

Section on Leadership Association of American Law Schools

Call for Paper for Section on Leadership 2022 AALS Annual Meeting

The Section on Leadership is pleased to announce a Call for Papers from which one additional presenter will be selected for the Section's program to be held during the AALS 2022 Annual Meeting in Washing DC, in January of 2022. The Annual Meeting will be conducted through distance technology rather than in person.

American Law Schools are increasingly offering their students opportunities to develop the leadership skills, behaviors and attitudes that will advance their abilities as future leaders in the legal profession, government and politics. Their leadership will be important as legal education addresses contemporary issues of racism, discrimination and bias in our society and in legal education. The 2022 Section on Leadership's program will feature conversations with lawyers who serve in a variety of these roles with the selected topic of: Leadership and Equity: The Promise of Leadership Education in Advancing Anti-Racist Reform in Legal Education.

Form and length of submission, anonymous review:

The article should be no more than 15,000 words, including footnotes and should be submitted anonymously. A cover letter with the author's name and contact information should accompany the paper.

Submission method and due date:

Papers and cover letters should be submitted electronically to Donald Polden at dpolden@scu.edu. The due date for submission is September 1, 2021. The author of the selected paper will be notified by September 30, 2021, and given information about the Section program at the Annual Meeting.

Submission review:

Papers will be selected after review by members of a committee appointed by the Section Chair after consultation with the Executive Committee of the Section.

Inquiries or questions:

Any questions about the Call for Paper or the Section process of selection should be submitted to Donald J. Polden at dpolden@scu.edu or calling 408 210 5303.